To Whom It May Concern:

We are the National Cattlemen's Beef Association and we hold our Annual Convention & Trade Show on a rotation every year with approximately 6000 attendees.

This year we were in San Antonio at the Convention Center. One of our functions this year was to plan an event for Thursday night that would include several private receptions and then a large party for all attendees. We visited Sunset Station and it was apparent that this venue would fit our needs perfectly. We found the depots breathtaking and very well taken care of. The plaza and pavilion area were festive and bright with all the lights and décor from Sunset Station and showed off the San Antonio Fiesta atmosphere that we were looking for.

Lisa Parker and all the staff at Sunset Station were very willing to work with us on all our needs and they were all very respectful, responsive and organized. Our association had a fairly complicated function set up and the staff at Sunset rose to the challenge. There wasn't an area that they weren't prepared for from the food, to the bars, décor down to the AV.

We had some minor weather issues the night of the event but Lisa and her crew stepped up to the challenge and had an excellent contingency plan in place that was ready to handle any weather even before we asked. All the depots and outside areas had been set up as we had requested. We never had to look too far for a staff person for assistance or ask for areas to be clean or refreshed. That made our jobs so much easier and the reception(s) and Fiesta were flawless. We are very particular with our menus and the culinary staff at Sunset Station were remarkable.

We have received several comments from attendees and our staff that this was the best event we have held in 15 years. A lot of that credit goes to Sunset Station and their staff.

I would highly recommend Sunset Station to anyone for their event.

Sincerely,

Valerie Proni
